The JCFS Yeshiva: Addressing a Child's Unique Needs

חנוך לנער על פי דרכו

What is the cost to JCFS of educating a full-time student in the JCFS Yeshiva?

The cost to JCFS of providing a full-day therapeutic education program for the approximately 176 days of the regular school year exceeds $40,000.

What is the tuition rate of the JCFS Yeshiva? Who is required to pay tuition?

The answer to these questions depends on whether the student a) is referred by the local public school district, b) is a private full-day student, or c) is a partnership student.

Students referred by the public school district

Students who are referred by their local public school district are known as 'tuitioned' or 'public' students. Their tuition is paid by the local public school district. For information about 'the tuitioning process,' please see "Applying to the JCFS Yeshiva."

Private full-day students

Full tuition for private full-day students is $20,680 as of fall 2016, which represents a tuition remission of at least 50%.

If the family has made a good faith effort, as determined by the JCFS School, to complete the tuitioning process and yet the child has not been accepted for 'tuitioning,' the JCFS School will be prepared to discuss a parental payment of tuition with additional tuition remission based on need as established by a formal application through FACTS (<https://online.factsmgmt.com/aid>). For school, choose "JCFS Therapeutic Day School."

Payment of tuition is the responsibility of the family. The minimum tuition rate for full-time private students is $3,000. The remainder of educational expenses is borne by Jewish Child & Family Services.

Partnership Students

Partnership students divide their academic time between a mainstream Jewish day school and the JCFS Yeshiva. The tuition rate for JCFS therapeutic education services is based on the full-day private tuition rate of the JCFS School, $20,680, prorated according to the proportion of academic spent at the JCFS Yeshiva. The JCFS School will be prepared to discuss a parental payment of tuition with consideration of further tuition remission based on need as established by a formal application through FACTS (<https://online.factsmgmt.com/aid>). For school, choose "JCFS Therapeutic Day School."

Payment of tuition is the responsibility of the family. The minimum tuition rate for partnership students is $2,000. The remainder of educational expenses is borne by Jewish Child & Family Services.

How does one arrange tuition payments?

The family may a) pay with a single check or credit card payment, b) submit a set of up to 10 postdated checks, or c) arrange up to 10 monthly credit card payments. Tuition must be arranged before the beginning of educational services.

Can payment be arranged with a third party?

Some families arrange for tuition payments to be made by a third party, such as a family member or rabbinic sponsor. It is the family's responsibility to see that an arrangement has been made.

Tuition payments are not considered charitable donations under federal law, even if they are paid by a third party.
